National Technical Honor Society Induction

Thirteen seniors were inducted into the National Technical Honor Society on December . The students and their families were welcomed to the McNairy County Ag Event Center by CTE Director Shane Stults. Following a brief lighting ceremony, students received a certificate and club tshirt. They enjoyed cupcakes following the ceremony.

The McNairy County chapter includes students from both Adamsville High School and MCHS. To be inducted, students must be selected by a CTE instructor for their excellence in a chosen Career-Technical field, and they must be a concentrator in that area, having completed or are currently taking at least three credits.

Inducted for the Class of 2024 are Laila Atkins (Health Science), Gillian Garner (Marketing), Addie Finlayson (Family & Consumer Science), Mary Ella Griswell (Family & Consumer Science), David Arnold (Computer Science)

Kildon Lowrance (Plumbing & Electrical), Mason Weeks (Agriculture), Preston Burks (Mechatronics),

Freimy Guerrero (Health Science), Nate Foster (Engineering), Ethan Plunk (Criminal Justice), Westin

Rakin (Business Education) and Samuel Marcum (Computer Science).
